

A photograph of a man wearing a brown hat and a dark shirt, walking away from the camera through a field of crops. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. In the background, there are rows of crops and a fence line. The overall scene is peaceful and agricultural.

Deeply Rooted

in agribusiness

Growers of fruits, vegetables, seeds and commodity crops • Producers of meat, seafood and eggs
Processors of fresh and packaged foods • Agricultural cooperatives and trade associations
Institutional lenders and investors • Large-production farms and corporate producers
Dairies • Ranches • Food and agricultural equipment manufacturers

We're not just lawyers. We're deeply rooted partners in business.

We have one of the largest food and agribusiness law practices in the U.S. with comprehensive transactional, regulatory, financing and corporate experience across every tier of the agribusiness industry.

Not only do we offer an interdisciplinary team who knows the operational, regulatory, tax, lending and land use issues, but we offer a team with deep-rooted passion for and personal interest in food and where it comes from.

Here's how we do it:

- We ask questions, listen actively, and embrace innovation in search of better outcomes.
- We cultivate relationships with key industry groups and regulators to stay ahead of the curve on policy developments.
- We consult colleagues in a broad range of legal disciplines to offer the most effective legal solutions and value-based business services.
